PROTEST NOTE OF U. S. REJECTED BY JAPANESE TODAY

Declare Ideas of Past No Longer Apply to the Chinese Situation

BULLETIN
Washington, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The American Chamber of Commerce at Tientsin, China, asked the U. S. Chamber of Commerce today to warn American manufacturers against placing their goods with Japanese for distribution in China.

"Such a course," the Tientsin Chamber said in a resolution which the U. S. Chamber released, will result in an almost total loss of their business as their goods will undoubtedly be shelved in favor of similar lines of goods of Japanese manufacture."

Tokyo, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Japan today rejected all major contentions of the United States note of October 6 protesting against "unwanted interference" with American rights in China and declared that "ideas and principles of the past" no longer applied to the Chinese situation.

The Japanese reply, handed to Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, said in conclusion:

"In the face of the new situation any attempt to apply to the conditions of today and tomorrow the inapplicable ideas and principles of the past neither would contribute to the peace of east Asia nor solve the immediate issues."

The Japanese note, which had the approval of the cabinet and the sanction of Emperor Hirohito, declared Japan was engaged in establishing a new order in east Asia "which is an indispensable condition of Japan's very existence."

Points Taken One by One
The note took up the points of the American protest one by one. On some points the allegations of the United States were denied. On others counter-arguments were offered. Elsewhere pleas of military necessity were made.

The Japanese reply was interpreted authoritatively as notice Japan considers that the new conditions created by her conquest of a large portion of China have rendered out-dated the international agreements concerning China reached immediately after the World War.

Already, responsible Japanese spokesmen have indicated a determination that such facts as the 1922 nine-power treaty, by which Japan, the United States and seven other nations pledged themselves to respect China's territorial integrity and independence, should no longer bind the Japanese empire.

Long-Awaited Reply
When Ambassador Grew presented the American note October 6 he asked for a prompt reply, but the Japanese government deliberated long and carefully before answering.

The strongly-worded United States note had asked Japan to cease "unwarranted interference" with American rights in China, listing a long series of violations of American business and property rights.

Demanding that the "open door" for foreign trade be maintained in China, the note accused Japan of attempting to monopolize Chinese trade through setting up pseudo-Chinese monopolies and manipulating the currency of north-China.

Work Is Started for Viaduct Near Eldena

Workmen employed by the Illinois Central Railroad Company have started raising the tracks south of Eldena to provide for an underpass for the continuation of U. S. route 30 across the west section of Lee county. A temporary structure will be built as soon as the tracks have been raised to the required grade. At the Dixon district offices of the highway department today it was stated that in all probability contractors would bid on construction of the permanent underpass within the next 30 days, work to be completed next summer.

Two bridges over the Five Mile branch creek are nearing completion and it is expected that the new state and Federal highway will be completed across Lee county next summer.

Home Near Mendota is Badly Damaged by Fire

(Telegraph Special Service)
Mendota, Nov. 18.—The house on Daniel Beetz farm, three and one-half miles northwest of Mendota was damaged approximately by fire at 5 o'clock this morning, the interior being practically gutted by the flames, which are believed to have started from defective wiring in the basement.

Mr. Beetz was forced to drive to Mendota for aid, because of reported failure of the telephone service in his neighborhood.

Foreboding PEORIA, ILL., NOV. 18.—(AP)—

The 223 bronze turkeys on the Finnegan Brothers' farm apparently took a peek at the calendar and saw a red letter day approaching.

The flock wandered off the 1,000-acre farm and caused some concern to the Finnegan Brothers, who were planning a big Thanksgiving sale. Calls were put in to the Peoria police, the county police and the state police.

CHICAGO BANKER PLEADED GUILTY TO DEFALCATION

Former Asst. Treasurer Title & Trust Co. Admits $14,740 Theft

Chicago, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Elliot J. Trees, former Assistant Treasurer of the Chicago Title & Trust Company, was sentenced today to serve one to 10 years in prison for embezzling $14,740 of the firm's funds.

Chief Justice M. L. McKinley of the Criminal court fixed that penalty on each of four defendants but specified that the sentences were to be concurrent.

The defendant pleaded guilty shortly after he surrendered. Trees was indicted Wednesday. Leslie Curtis, Assistant State's Attorney who presented the case, said the shortage might run as high as $25,000 and that Trees had admitted it would reach that figure.

Curtis said Trees' defalcations began shortly after he became assistant treasurer of the company three years ago. Trees, formerly of Kokomo, Ind., joined the Chicago firm in 1928.

Method of Procedure.
An assistant treasurer, Curtis related, Trees had sole charge of several accounts, some of which contained only a few dollars. These he wrote off the books, the prosecutor said, and later when checks payable to them came in, Trees cashed them with one of the company's tellers. Curtis said this was done so that the company's indorsement would not appear on the check and arouse suspicion.

Curtis said that a few months ago an auditor was unable to account for a $1,200 item and Trees told him it probably had been credited to another account. A few days later, one of Trees' subordinates saw him placing an envelope into a safe in the counting room. The envelope contained $1,200 in currency.

After the incident was reported to officials of the company, an investigation followed and Trees confessed, Curtis said. He was dismissed immediately.

Curtis said Trees told him the money was spent on medical care. Trees is 40, married and has a daughter. Their home is in suburban Winnetka.

A. F. of L. Chief Urges Stress on Nazi Boycott

Washington, Nov. 18.—(AP)—William Green, president, called on the American Federation of Labor today to "redouble efforts" to make effective the federation's five-year-old boycott against German goods and service.

He asked this as evidence of the federation's opposition to the treatment of Jews in Germany. Green sent a letter to all A. F. of L. affiliates, saying the United States laboring man should make his resentment known, "in a vital and striking way."

"It is not enough to protest," he declared. "We must supplement protest with action."

RAIN ENDS FIRE HAZARD

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The fire hazard existing in southern Illinois for the past six weeks due to lack of rainfall was removed today by a general, heavy rainfall. Three and two-thirds inches of rain fell here during the night and early morning, and the Wabash river began rising from its extremely low stage.

Young Mother Faces Criminal Action in Death of Baby She Concealed from Spouse

Oakland, Calif., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A 28-year-old mother, apparently recovering normally from unattended childbirth, faced possible criminal charges today after her baby died from exposure all night in a vacant lot.

The baby, wrapped in a dish towel and stuck in a shopping bag, was found blue with cold yesterday and died later in the day. While doctors worked to save the infant, police began a house-by-house checkup of the neighborhood which led to the home of Mrs. Rose Jozich. They found her in bed, dazed and sobbing.

"Yes, it is my baby," she wept. "I was afraid of Joe."

LAST OF BRADY 'MOST VICIOUS' MOBSTERS DIES

Federal Government in Charge of Execution of Jas. Dalhove

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The last gangster of the Al Brady mob of midwestern killers, once described as the worst in the country, died in a swift federal execution today.

Little red-haired James Dalhove of Madison, 32-year-old trigger man for the gang, paid in state prison's electric chair for the slaying of Paul V. Minneman, Logansport state policeman shot after the $2,500 Goodland State bank robbery May 25, 1937.

His death was as quick but more quiet than those of his fellow mobmen, Alfred Brady and Clarence Lee Shaffer, Jr., of Indianapolis. Federal agents shot the two to death when they captured Dalhove in Bangor, Me., Oct. 12, 1937.

In nine brief minutes just after midnight, the condemned man was hustled from the death cell between two guards, strapped in the chair and electrocuted. Physicians pronounced him dead at 11 minutes after 12.

"Most Vicious" Gang
That ended the career of a gang once termed by J. Edgar Hoover, Federal Bureau of Investigation chief, the "most vicious" in the United States. Brady and his henchmen boasted they would "make John Dillinger look like a piker." They were blamed for three killings and numerous robberies.

A triangle-shaped black mask hid Dalhove's face as he was brought into a death chamber still as a morgue and walked, with stiff legs and heavy feet, the 13 steps to the chair. He wore an old brown shirt and black pants. Fifteen persons and a death-chamber crew of six watched. Three newspapermen were on hand. One of the witnesses was Loren Ayres of Delphi, once Minneman's partner on the state police force. Ayres, traffic cop at the West Lafayette barracks and state police representative at the execution, worked with Minneman from the time they entered state police school in 1935 until the Logansport man's death. He was off duty the day Minneman was ambushed and slain at a country crossroads.

Government in Charge
The federal government had charge of the case because the Goodland bank was a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

Dalhove gave up farming and bootlegging in the southern Indiana hills three years ago to join the gang in looting banks, jewelry stores, groceries and theaters of thousands of dollars.

Besides Minneman, Dalhove confessed to Indiana State Detective Meredith Stewart the trio killed Edward Linsey, Plaquia, O., grocery clerk, and Indianapolis Police Sgt. Richard Rivers.

Belvidere Mayor At- tacked by Prisoner

Belvidere, Ill., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A prisoner reached from his jail cell today, grabbed Mayor Perry A. Cratty and choked him nearly unconscious before he was rescued by firemen.

Police said the prisoner was Pat Faith, 27, Belvidere pugilist, who, they reported, was arrested last night after he had attacked and attempted to rob Ed Munn, 81, in his home.

Cratty managed to sink his teeth in his assailant's hand but he was scratched and bruised before firemen who heard the commotion in the jail came to his aid.

LOOKING INTO FUTURE

Cleveland, Nov. 18.—(AP)—An authority on highways predicted today automobile traffic "will be approximately doubled by 1960."

Thomas H. McDonald, chief of the U. S. bureau of public roads, told the 36th annual meeting of the American Automobile Association "it would seem that construction of divided multiple-lane highways must proceed during the next 22 years, in the country as a whole, at an average rate in excess of 1,000 miles per year."

SEVERE ELECTRICAL STORM

Belleville, Ill., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Lights and power here failed for 40 minutes last night during a severe electrical storm, accompanied by some hail. Police said they were informed a bolt of lightning struck a major power line that fed the city's circuits.

YOUNG CHICAGOAN HELD FOR BRUTAL DEATH OF WOMAN

Chicago, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A young machinist was held today as the confessed slayer of Ella Pehrson, 35, comely cosmetics saleswoman whose nude body was found crammed into a closet of his room.

Emmett Moynihan, assistant state's attorney, said the man, Joseph Kadacek, 27, confessed last night he stabbed the woman with an eight-inch kitchen knife when she resisted his advances.

Miss Pehrson was the daughter of August Pehrson, a Balaton, Minn., farmer. She sold perfume, cosmetics, and toiletries on regular calls to a group of clients, one of whom was Kadacek.

Kadacek was seized in front of a bank where he had made an appointment to meet a brother for the purpose of borrowing money. Detectives, suspecting he would need funds, had set a watch at the bank. Miss Pehrson was slain Wednesday night. Her body was found yesterday.

Kadacek's version of the slaying, as reported by Prosecutor Moynihan, was substantially as follows:

When Miss Pehrson screamed he struck her in the jaw and attempted to assault her. He choked her when she again screamed, then seized a knife lying on the nearby stove and stabbed her once in the throat and twice in the right breast.

Kadacek then ripped off her clothing and assaulted her. Later, after visits to several taverns, he stuffed the body in the closet. He stayed at a hotel during the night and returned the next day for some belongings preparatory to leaving town.

Charge County Deputy Violated the Game Law

C. W. Poffenberger, deputy state conservation inspector of Polo, yesterday afternoon appeared before Justice J. O. Shaulis and obtained a warrant in which he charged Deputy Sheriff Stoddard Danekas of Reynolds township with possession of fur bearing animals out of season. A baby raccoon was named by the officer as the base of the charge, conviction on which is reported to carry a minimum fine of $25 and costs.

The issuance of the warrant, which was delivered to Sheriff Ward Miller for service, is the alleged outgrowth of many weeks of quibbling over the possession of the small coon, in which Deputy Inspectors Charles Duis of this city and Poffenberger of Polo have been interested. In Alto township, it was reported that a resident of Steward who last summer rescued a litter of raccoon, only a few days old was fined heavily for possessing fur bearing animals.

Noted French Lawyer Will Defend Assassin

Paris, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Vincent de Moro-Giafferi, renowned criminal lawyer who once defended "bluebeard" Henri Landru, announced today he had accepted an American request to defend Herschel Grynszpan, 17-year-old Polish Jew whose slaying of a German embassy secretary loosed Nazi vengeance on German Jews.

Moro-Giafferi said he had accepted the request of the Grynszpan defense committee of America to take charge of the case.

Grynszpan now is in a French prison awaiting trial for killing Ernst Vom Rath.

Like "bluebeard," who paid for 11 slayings with his life Feb. 15, 1922, Grynszpan faced the guillotine. "Bluebeard" lured women to death on promises of marriage to obtain their money.

Report Insurgents Plan New General Offensive

Hendaye, France.—(At the Spanish Frontier)—Nov. 18.—(AP)—Spanish insurgent armies were reported preparing a new general offensive today against Valencia and Tarragona on the eastern Spanish coast.

Fighting was suspended on all fronts after the insurgents announced they successfully pushed back a government thrust on the Ebro front. However, renewed insurgent action against the Mediterranean ports was believed imminent.

There has been little action since early summer on the Valencia front because the insurgents were forced to meet the military offensive on the Ebro river's west bank.

Good News for Housewives

Thanksgiving is in the wind. And here's good news to housewives who have been eagerly garnering suggestions for adding as much deliciousness as possible to the traditional feast:

On pages 6 and 7 of today's issue of The Dixon Evening Telegraph, you will find complete information for entering the Telegraph's annual Thanksgiving turkey puzzle contest. The rewards have been doubled this year to include two turkeys, three geese and four chickens—feast fixings that will make at least nine Telegraph-reading families more thankful.

The whole family will have fun solving the puzzles. All you have to do is to supply the missing letters in the slogans chosen by the merchants who are participating, then arrange your answers in the most original manner you can think of, and send them to the Thanksgiving Editor at The Telegraph office, not later than 10 A. M. next Tuesday morning.

All entries will be judged on the following four points:

1. Correctness.
2. Neatness.
3. Originality in arrangement of answers.
4. Promptness.

Correct answers to the puzzles and a list of the prize winners will appear in Tuesday's issue of The Telegraph. But remember—all replies must be addressed: "Thanksgiving Editor," and must reach the Telegraph office not later than 10 A. M., Tuesday, Nov. 22.

ANTI-JEWISH DRIVE IS CUTTING ORDERS FOR GERMAN GOODS

Berlin, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The anti-Jewish drive is costing Germany orders for her goods from abroad and it appeared today other economic difficulties may follow.

One exporter said all orders had been cancelled by customers in five leading countries around Germany.

Another asserted ruefully that the steep downward curve of business extended beyond the bottom of his sales graph.

The sharp decrease of foreign orders, manufacturers said, was the first effect they noted after the wrecking of Jewish shops, the decrees ordering these shops under Aryan proprietorship, and the $400,000,000 fine, a consequence of the shooting by a Jewish boy of the Paris embassy secretary, Ernest Vom Rath, who was buried yesterday with Nazi honors.

New prohibitions include, the newspaper Angriff said, one against tenant rights for Jews which would permit an Aryan wanting a Jew's home to have him evicted overnight. The paper said some 8,000 homes in Berlin would become available shortly for Aryans.

Jewish guests are to be banned from small hotels. The larger hotels are not adhering to the ban, a reliable person said, because of their international clientele.

With new restrictions becoming known daily while Nazi newspapers continue attacks upon the United States and Britain for their expressions of resentment, industrialists have asked that German chambers of commerce abroad examine market possibilities more exhaustively and try to provide counter-stimulants.

Cold Weather in North West Spreads Westward

Chicago, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A wide variety of weather, including heavy rains in the Ohio river valley, prevailed throughout the middle west today.

Northwestern and west central portions enjoyed mostly fair weather, but it was cloudy elsewhere. Above normal temperatures ranging upwards from 60 degrees accompanied the rain, but the mercury was due to drop sharply with the cessation of the downpour in the Ohio river valley late today and tonight.

The rainfall measured 2.36 inches in Vincennes, Ind.; 1.41 in Indianapolis; 1.86 in Terre Haute, Ind.; and 2.33 in Dayton, Ohio. In Illinois the rain ranged from a trace in the north to more than an inch downstate. Wisconsin had light rains.

Cold weather in the northwest was forecast to spread eastward tomorrow into the upper Great Lakes region, with near freezing readings in the Chicago area. The mercury was at two above at Bemidji, Minn., and six above at Grand Forks, N. D., this morning.

Profit Sharing to Be Given Public Hearing

Washington, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The special senate committee named to investigate the workings of profit-sharing in industry announced today that "incentive taxation" would be stressed at public hearings opening Monday.

A statement from Senators Herring (D-Iowa) and Vandenberg (R-Mich.), committee members, said their "purpose is to determine whether it is not possible and practical to encourage social-minded practices in commerce and industry instead of always, as heretofore, using the taxing power to punish, or prohibit, or restrain."

Vandenberg advocates tax exemptions for industries sharing their profits with employees.

The committee said critics as well as advocates of profit-sharing would be welcomed at the hearings.

STRUCK BY AUTO

Chicago, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Anthony Blome, 32, a janitor, was seriously injured today when struck by an automobile while he was attempting to flag a ride. His car had stalled and he was hit by one driven by Hugh Duckmanton, 35, of 105 Lorraine avenue, Joliet.

New Blaze Threatens Government's Ex- perimental Station in Angeles Forest

Upland, Calif., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A forest and brush fire in the San Gabriel mountains, starting in San Antonio canyon early today, spread to two other canyons, cow and fern, and continued its rush toward a larger federal experimental forest.

Thirty-five men employed in the forest, over whose safety concern was expressed earlier by the forest service, got out of the path of the flames. All arrived in nearby Glendora about 7 a. m.

They said more than 2,500 acres had been burned.

Istanbul.—Eleven persons reported hurt, fatally in crash to view body of the late President Kamal Ataturk.

Berlin, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The official German news agency today announced Hans Dieckhoff, German ambassador to the United States, has been summoned home for a report to Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

The announcement said "the ambassador will inform the foreign minister in detail concerning the queer attitude toward events in Germany of a domestic nature which is apparent from declarations by Roosevelt and other authoritative personalities in the United States of America."

In a press conference Tuesday President Roosevelt said public opinion in the United States had been shocked profoundly by news from Germany of anti-Jewish violence.

(The United States ambassador to Germany, Hugh R. Wilson, already is on his way home to give a full report of the German situation at the president's behest.)

TO SAIL NEXT WEEK

Washington, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A German embassy secretary said today Ambassador Hans Dieckhoff, called home to Berlin, probably would sail from New York next Friday on the Europa, the first fast German boat leaving.

The embassy announced receipt of official orders telling Dieckhoff to return but said the actual time of sailing was uncertain.

Dr. Hans Thomsen, embassy counselor, will be in charge during Dieckhoff's absence. The embassy secretary said he had no idea how long that would be.

Dieckhoff's departure will just about coincide with the arrival in New York of Hugh R. Wilson, American ambassador to Berlin.

Before he leaves, it was announced, Dieckhoff will call on Secretary Hull. Mrs. Dieckhoff will not accompany her husband home, but probably will leave about December 6 to spend Christmas with her husband in Germany. It was understood the wife of Ambassador Wilson has similar plans to spend Christmas with her husband in the United States.

MAY EXTEND PERMITS

Washington, Nov. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told a press conference today that on humanitarian grounds he had proposed a six-months extension for between 12,000 and 15,000 German and Austrian refugees who are in the United States on visitors' permits.

The president said unless this extension were granted the permits of this large group would be cancelled if the refugees were not back in their native land by the end of the year.

He has informed Secretary of Labor Perkins, he said, that it would be a cruel and inhuman thing to compel these persons to go back to Germany and face possible mistreatment in concentration camps or other persecution.

The president smiled but had no comment on the summoning home of Hans Dieckhoff, German ambassador to Washington, to report on the "queer attitude" of the president and other American authorities on domestic affairs in Germany.

As for the refugees here on temporary visitors' permits, Mr. Roosevelt said he would present the facts to congress and if congress took no action the refugees would be allowed to stay in this country.

Number Unlimited
He said he was inclined to grant further extensions at the expiration of the first six-months extension. The president added that the law did not limit the number of six-months extensions.

The president said he had no (Continued on Page 5)

TALK COMPROMISE ON REORGANIZATION BILL IN CONGRESS

Washington, Nov. 18—(AP)—There were new indications today that friends and foes of the administration's government reorganization bill might try to work out a compromise measure in the next session of Congress.

Interested administration officials said they were hopeful some new program could be devised to eliminate objections which sent the bill to a House pigeon-hole last spring.

Among other things, they said, it might be possible to insert a definite pledge of economy—a pledge which opposition Senators demanded but failed to exact.

Opponents of the bill, who generally have favored government reorganization in principle, said they had certain minimum demands before any compromise could be reached.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) predicted Congress never would consent to provision of the administration measure which would abolish the office of Comptroller General and replace the present bi-partisan civil service commission with a single administrator.

Vandenberg said there also would be insistence Congress be given some check over the proposed presidential authority to reshuffle bureaus.

Some government officials studying the reorganization problem expressed agreement with a suggestion by Rep. Mead (D-N.Y.) a Senator-elect, that the various proposals in the original bill be offered as separate measures.

These persons, asking anonymity, said this arrangement might prevent charges of "dictatorship" which were raised during consideration of the bill last spring.

President Roosevelt has held several conferences on the reorganization problem during the

The regular lesson was then given by Mrs. W. Parrish and Mrs. H. Lyle. The meeting closed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer, after which a social hour was spent.

DEMOCRACY'S MEANING

Lakeland, Fla., (AP)—Florida Southern College proposes a chair of Democracy to encourage American youth to embrace Democracy with "even a greater enthusiasm" that the youth of Russia, Germany and Italy support their national programs.

Students would be taught the meaning and history of Democracy, Dr. Ludd M. Spivey, president of the college, explains, and would be shown that failures of Democracies have been failures of its leaders and not of the system itself.

BANKERS DEMAND BALANCE

Houston, Texas, Nov. 18—(AP)—The American Bankers Association asked today that the federal budget be balanced. The association closed its annual convention last night after adopting resolution calling for a balanced budget and elimination of overlapping taxes by state, federal and municipal governments. It opposed branch banking when it crosses state lines.

COLORFUL PLATES FOR AUTOMOBILES IN MOST STATES

The most colorful license plates ever seen on the highway will appear in 1939, Bert Vanderwarf, head of the Chicago Motor club touring and travel bureau, reported today in announcing color schemes for next year's automobile tags.

"Yellow and black, used by seven states, is the favorite combination," Mr. Vanderwarf said, "followed by blue and white in second place with six plates. Aluminum, which appeared for the first time a few years ago, is gaining in popularity as seven states will use it next year on their plates."

"To promote tourist travel within their boundaries, several states are continuing the growing tendency to express their individuality by casting their plates in distinctive designs or using slogans. Outstanding examples for 1939 are Wyoming's bucking bronco pattern, Louisiana's pelican, and Ohio's ox and covered wagon design," he said.

Here is the complete list of color schemes to be used in every state:

Modern Violins Found As Good as Masters'

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 18 — (AP)—Professor Frederick A. Saunders of Harvard, for whom Jascha Heifetz played Stradivari and Guarnerius violins for two hours on November 7, reported today that scientific tests showed a modern $200 violin produced "steady tones whose quality is closely similar to that given by a violin made by one of the best of the old Italian masters."

He told the American Acoustical Society his comparison was based on photographic records produced by an automatic sound analyzer developed at Harvard, which records the relative strengths of all harmonics—fun-

FAMILIES BENEFITED

The Button club's fourth annual dance, which was held Thursday evening at the Joseph S. Askey, "Giver Gardens," will benefit 176 persons who are members of 33 deserving families. These people have been selected through the co-operation of Lucille Cain, health supervisor of the elementary schools, to receive the Thanksgiving baskets from the club.

Each family will receive a bushel basket with meat and foodstuffs, which will be purchased by the Button club members from local merchants. Contributions of peas and corn from the California Packing Corporation and asparagus from the Rochelle Asparagus company have also been received for the baskets. The Rochelle Asparagus company has donated the use of their Sixth street office for the club to use as headquarters in which to pack their baskets.

The Harms dairy kindly offered to assist the club in the delivery of the Thanksgiving baskets. Friday evening the Button club members will hold a special meeting for a final checkup on proceeds of the dance. Each member is asked to bring their own special contribution of home made jelly or jam, pickles or canned goods. Any outside contribution would also be much appreciated by the club members in this worthy cause.

DAD JOE H. S. CLUB

Mrs. Frank Heaton, assisted by Mrs. Joe Barth were hostesses to the Dad Joe Household Science club on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Bacorn, the president opened the meeting with a Thanksgiving song. Twenty-one members responded to roll call with Thanksgiving poems or "hints." A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Bacorn. Mrs. Glen Al joined the organization.

The club planned to have a "grab bag" at their Christmas party in December at the home of Inez Norden in Ohio. The assisting hostesses will also be from Ohio.

Mrs. Margaret Albrecht, and Mrs. Louella Ioder, Mrs. Inez Norden and Mrs. Anna Erbes had charge of the program. Mrs. Norden gave an interesting paper on the "prophet" setting of an informal table.

Mrs. Marvin Ioder read an article on "The Woman in the Home." The Thanksgiving game was guessing the seeds of the pumpkin. Mrs. Frank Minier received the prize. Polyantha gifts were received by Mrs. Hattie Ioder, Mrs. Isabel Albrecht, Mrs. Harriet Albrecht and Mrs. Louella Ioder. Delicious refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, ice box dessert and coffee were served.

BRIDGE CLUB MET

Mrs. Viola Fisher entertained her bridge club at the home of her mother, Mrs. John Fisher, on Wednesday afternoon with three tables at play. Mrs. Sara Major received high score and Mrs. Hazel Whitner low. Mrs. Roy Atherton will be the hostess on Nov. 30.

MRS. MINIER, HOSTESS

The W. F. M. S. of the Methodist Episcopal church met at the home of Mrs. Rosa Minier on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Fred Perkins had charge of the devotion opening the meeting with the song, "Love Divine." Her topic was "The Kingdom is Love" and a number of Scripture references were read to further interpret her topic.

Sheduled the devotional period with prayer. Miss Mau gave the refresher program which was of deep interest and educational. This was followed by the study from "Moving Millions" which was "Untouchables" given by Mrs. Werner. Mrs. Howard Smith, the president, conducted a short business session. She gave the society the budget plan and the envelopes for the Christmas offering. Dr. Street and Mrs. Cort Knight were guests. Lois Smith assisted the hostess in serving the delicious refreshments.

Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

How'd you like to hear about an accident?

One bright and sunny day an excited man burst into a state police highway station and shouted something about an accident.

"Hey, slow down," said the sergeant in charge. "I can't understand you if you holler so fast."

"Well," said the man, "there's been an accident on that sharp curve near route 123."

The police investigated the accident and found that an old sedan had run over the ledge of a steep bank, turned over and killed the driver. There was nothing to be done but report the accident, recover the body and haul the wreck away. Before this was done, however, the insurance company investigated and discovered a small puddle of oil on the highway near the scene of the accident.

This caused a review of the case and they decided that it had been deliberate, not an accident. Why?

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler

The parts of the body were: 1. Calf; 2. Spine; 3. Scalp; 4. Wrist; 5. Ankle; 6. Shoulder; 7. Head. (Did you see that one?) 8. Elbow; 9. Thumb; 10. Arm. (Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)

Lincoln P.-T. A. Has Program on People of Mexico

Amid a setting of Mexican handicraft and pictures, Miss Esther Barton, principal of the new Lincoln school, addressed the Lincoln Parent-Teacher meeting yesterday afternoon on "Our Neighbors South of the Rio Grande."

A Mexican serape modeled by one of the pupils, Robert Meeks, and a senorita's costume worn by Jeanne Smith, lent further vividness to Miss Barton's talk, in which she discussed the general characteristics of the people of Mexico and their handicraft.

In keeping with the school's "Courtesy Week," many of the students attended the meeting, and were introducing their mothers to the teachers, Mrs. Robert Ayres, the association president, presided.

Pupils of the eighth grade and their teachers, Miss Cornelia Conibear and Miss Barton, planned the program, which was carried out as announced last week.

According to a report of the jitty supper, fish pond, and operetta sponsored recently by the association, gross receipts for the affair amounted to about $430. Appreciation was expressed for generous donations made by Dixon merchants for the fish pond.

Newlyweds are Complimented

About 45 guests, relatives of the bride and groom, were entertained last evening at the George Ites home, 308 Chamberlain, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fishback, recently married. Mrs. Fishback, the former Mrs. Minnie Cable, is a daughter of the host and hostess.

Gift packages for a variety shower were brought by the family members from Dixon, Rockford, and Sterling.

THIMBLE CLUB.

Some Dixon family will be thankful for the Thanksgiving basket which members of the Silver Thimble club were planning at yesterday's meeting of the club. Mrs. G. E. Bain was hostess.

Mrs. Walter Heckman is to entertain when the needlework is resumed in two weeks.

Oxford Club Plans Special Program

A book review, special music, group singing, and a devotional service will comprise the program for the first of a series of Sunday evening meetings which members of the Oxford club of the Methodist church are planning for 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening in the main auditorium of the church.

The Treble Clef choir will sing under the direction of Miss Marie Worley. The minister, the Rev. Howard Buxton, will give a book review on "The Yearling," a best seller by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings. The background for the novel is inland Florida, following the Civil war period. It depicts the struggle of a family of three for bread in the face of adversity, and the story centers about Jody, a boy of 12, and his love for animals, particularly his devotion to a motherless fawn.

Richard Joslyn will lead the group singing, with Crawford Thomas playing the organ accompaniments. Edward Lawton will be in charge of the devotional service.

Sheared Raccoon Makes Its Bow

Sheared raccoon, the latest news in fur fashions, is used to make a casual, three-quarters coat with moulded shoulders and a small, jaunty collar. If, during National Fur Week (Nov. 14 to 19), you decide to search for a coat which will be light as a feather, smart as a whip and sure to wear well for years and years, by all means consider sheared raccoon. It resembles nutria or beaver, comes in a variety of short, chubby jackets as well as longer coats, and is as flattering to mature figures as it is to very youthful ones.

Bennetts Leave for West; Honored with Neighborhood Party

A neighborhood party planned last night by Mrs. Russell Byers and Mrs. Guy Taylor was by way of a farewell courtesy for Mr. and Mrs. John Bennett, who left later in the evening for California to spend the winter. About 20 neighbors met at the Byers home, on Highland avenue for a scramble dinner at 6 o'clock.

Dinner was served by candlelight at flower-trimmed tables. The Bennetts plan to divide their time between the homes of relatives in Alhambra, Pasadena, Los Angeles, and other interesting points. At Alhambra, they will visit Mr. and Mrs. J. Ray Curran, former Dixonites. Mrs. Curran is a niece of Mrs. Bennett.

CARD PARTY

With the guests choosing their own game for the evening, and table prizes provided for the winners, the benefit card party sponsored by St. Agnes' Guild of St. Luke's Episcopal church was a gay affair of last evening. About 25 tables were in play in the Guild room at the church.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Hawley's committee at the close of the evening.

Nearly 120 Elks And Ladies Dine And Play Cards

A scramble supper, followed by an evening of bridge, attracted approximately 120 Elks and their ladies to the Elks clubhouse last evening. Supper was served at 6:30 o'clock at chrysanthemum-trimmed tables, with Mrs. C. G. Popma's committee in charge.

Tables were formed for both auction and contract. Mrs. David Spencer and Frank Sproul won prizes for their efforts in auction, and Mrs. Fremont Kaufman and Harry Quick were fortunate in contract.

CHILI SUPPER

Home Builders of the Brethren Sunday school and their teacher, William Dickey, were entertained with a chili supper last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville LeGore. Twenty members and friends were present.

During the evening, it was agreed to purchase a new rug for the pulpit platform, and much of the evening's conversation centered about rededication services for the newly-remodeled church to be held on Sunday, Dec. 4. Plans were also discussed for increasing the class attendance.

Stultz-Gebhardt Vows Are Read at Sterling Church

Miss Lucille Stultz of Dixon exchanged marriage vows with Sidney L. Gebhardt of Sterling, Wednesday afternoon at the Sterling Congregational church. The single ring ceremony was read at 3:30 o'clock by the Rev. William D. Pratt.

Miss Mabel Stultz of Dixon was her sister's maid of honor, and Edward Gebhardt of Sterling served his brother as best man. Several other relatives and friends were also present.

The bride wore teal blue with harmonizing accessories. Her sister chose light blue with black accessories.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stultz of Dixon. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gebhardt of Ninth avenue, Sterling.

Following the ceremony, the couple left on a brief wedding trip through the north. After Dec. 1, they will be at home at 404 West Seventh street, Sterling. The bridegroom is employed by Hey Brothers in Sterling.

W. C. O. OF F.

Only routine business was transacted at last evening's meeting for the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters. Proceeds amounting to about $35 were reported for the recent card party.

The next meeting is scheduled for Dec. 22.

Americanism is an Unfailing Love of Country; Loyalty to its institutions and ideals; Eagerness to defend it against all enemies; Undivided Allegiance to the Flag; and a desire to secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and posterity.

REBUKE FOR RADICALISM

Analysis of the general election returns proves that the election meant only one thing. It was a rebuke administered to radicalism by an orderly American public.

Consider Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace of Iowa. Mr. Wallace had been a Republican. When the opportunity came he embraced the radicalism of the New Deal. His stumblepuppy methods of achieving farm relief by juggling figures and hopping from expedient to expedient aroused the wrath of farmers in the grain belt, and in his own Iowa the farmers went Republican and threw Wallace over the side, to quote Paul Mallon.

Governor Murphy of Michigan, hailed by the C. I. O. and other Communist supporters as a great humanitarian because he refused to uphold the law and maintain order, was thrown out of office by thinking voters. No doubt his weakness incurred even the scorn of some of the agitators he has helped. It was, as well, a rebuke to Madame Secretary Perkins of the department of labor, who said she wasn't sure that sit-down strikes were illegal. Through Mr. Lewis and Miss Perkins the rebuke went where it belonged, to Mr. Roosevelt, who was supported to the extent of half a million dollars of campaign money from the C. I. O.

California voters were discriminating. They sent Sheridan Downey of ham and egg fame to Washington as senator, but they carefully voted down his $30 every Thursday program which was designed for the home state. One is led to wonder what other leg he has to stand on.

Some New Deal adherents felt "heartened" by the reelection of Governor Lehman in New York state, but it is safe to bet that when the last vote was counted and Mr. Lehman mopped his perspiring brow, he knew he had been in the toughest race of his life. And his embarrassment must have been complete when he looked around to face a Republican state legislature.

Scott Lucas carried Illinois handily, but it will be remembered that in connection with the Roosevelt efforts to pack the supreme court, Mr. Lucas arose in the house of representatives and made a courageous attack upon the measure, even though the house never was asked to vote upon it.

One might conjecture upon what would have happened if the newly-elected republican legislators had been in Washington when the wage-hour bill, for instance, was voted upon. A motion to return the measure to committee was defeated in the senate by only 12 votes. All republicans except Lodge voted to recommit. Eight more republican senators would have been enough to force changes in the bill if they desired.

Likewise eight more republicans in the senate would have forced an amendment barring political activity of relief administrators. Such an amendment was introduced, and it was defeated by only 3 votes. Republicans favored the amendment. The administration opposed it.

Conservative democrats and republicans will be able to fight effectively for our form of government in the coming congress.

ECONOMIC LIABILITIES

Tuskegee institute in Alabama, founded by Booker T. Washington, breaks into print with an appeal for funds with which to buy Christmas gifts for low-income colored families of the south.

"Because of low incomes due to surpluses of farm products there are many families of from five to ten persons in the deep south who have received less than $200 for the entire year. . . . In such homes, where even the barest necessities are frequently lacking, there will be nothing to remind the children of the Christmas season this year."

We suggest that the institute displays remarkable restraint in confining its observations to the Christmas season in connection with these share cropper families. On an income of less than $200 a year it is likely that the children have little to remind them of anything the year around.

The low-income situation is not confined to colored tenant farmers, but affects white share cropper families as well. Even in periods of relative prosperity among other groups, these poor white families and the negroes in many sections have a pitifully low standard of living.

It is easy enough to dismiss the matter with the thought that if people want better incomes, they should quit share cropping. This is not an "if situation. The fact is that we have share croppers. Who knows of a sound remedy for the situation? Economic experts have wrestled with the situation and have come off second best.

The point we wish to make is this: These poor families constitute a tremendous potential market for American goods. While we are making every effort to increase our exports to this or that foreign country, there are millions right here at home who would buy—if they could. We lend credits abroad so that foreigners can buy American products and thus keep our industrial wheels turning, and at the same time the Tuskegee institute sends out an appeal for gifts so that children in $200-a-year families in our own deep south may be reminded of Christmas.

DEFENSE—OR OFFENSE?

It has been considered sound policy for the United States to have land and naval forces adequate for national defense. With the development of the airplane as a weapon, adequacy must apply to our air forces as well.

The rearmament program being undertaken by our government naturally arouses some curiosity among the people who pay the bills. We believe in a state of preparedness, without doubt. But when we are overtaken by a sudden flurry of it, as though enemy destroyers had just poked their prows over the horizon, we are inclined to begin looking for the invaders.

Still, preparedness is a good thing, whether it is undertaken gradually as a settled national policy, or whether it comes suddenly, giving rise to the suspicion that stimulation of internal industry, not preparedness, is the chief objective.

Adequate defense implies not only the ability to repel invaders at New York or San Francisco. No good fighter ever relied purely on ability to ward off a blow. Adequate preparedness means that we should be able not only to protect our borders, but to make a few sorties into enemy territory if it is accessible. If the landscape must be pockmarked with shell holes, let it be the enemy's, not ours.

When we look for enemies, however, our search is barren of results. Japan has plenty of trouble at home. Germany dares not take eyes off the home frontiers. Russia is not a threat, having neither the weapons nor the skill to use them if she had. Italians couldn't make a dent. They made a poor showing even in Spain. Germany, Japan and Italy combined could make things hot for us at some future date, but not today, owing to enmity they have aroused among their neighbors. With things as unsettled as they are in Europe, England has no intention of attacking us, and would have no such intention, in all probability, even with Europe enjoying piping times of peace.

In spite of all that, preparedness is a good thing. It is worth the cost to guarantee universal acceptance of the Monroe doctrine and to insure our international rights in case of a European war.

Washington—Ten days of grim cogitation on the election returns has resulted in three definite decisions by the president and his inner circle advisers:

1. No more reform or experimental proposals.
2. Militant resistance against attacks on major New Deal agencies, such as WPA, National Labor Relations Board, TVA.
3. A 1939 legislative program confined solely to national defense and to social and economic security measures.

What No. 1 and No. 2 mean is abandonment of secret plans to revive the government reorganization bill and to begin new assaults on the Supreme Court. Until the unexpected Republican sweep hit them like a blow between the eyes, White House strategists were all set to rekindle the reorganization battle and other reform moves. But these measures they had so confidently prepared are now deadlier than last year's snobs.

Although it's a bitter dose for them to swallow, the New Dealers have made up their minds that not only are new experiments out from now on, but they will have to fight desperately to hold what they have already put on the law books.

To offset the expected attack they will plunk a broad-scale defense and social program in the lap of the new Congress. With this strategy they hope to draw the opposition's teeth by forcing it to show its hand, and by putting it in the position of holding up popular legislation in order to play partisan politics. Also they hope to put through a big spending program in disguised form.

Militant Roosevelt
Whatever the president's private misgivings may be, in his chats with advisers and friends he still displays a militant temper. A remark to Governor Frank Murphy, defeated Michigan Democrat, summed up his attitude: "We'll have to trim our sails to meet the new set-up, but we are not retreating a fraction of an inch on fundamentals. We'll hew straight to the line on them and I have implicit confidence that the country will be with us."

White House Program
Chief features of the legislative program that is being worked out in the White House are as follows:

1. A national defense plan costing from one and a half to two billion dollars.
2. A new slum clearance and low cost housing program, spending 500 to 750 millions.
3. A medical plan, for which the ground-work has already been laid in the Justice Department's monopoly suit against the American Medical association. This would also cost between 500 and 750 million dollars.
4. Broadening of the old-age pension system by an increase in payments, lowering of the age limit from 65 to 60 years, and adding benefits for widows and dependent children.
5. A new farm bill that discards Secretary Wallace's cherished but unpopular crop control theories, and substitutes a "cost-of-production" formula still to be worked out.
6. A railroad rescue bill forcing consolidations and drastic financial house-cleanings, with government loans for new equipment and improvements.

Two purposes are apparent in this program. First, it has wide popular appeal and second, it cuts squarely across party lines. Whether they favor the administration or not, Democrats and Republicans will be hard put to buck these proposals—at least in principle.

It is Roosevelt's aim to maneuver his opponents into the same position they were in back in 1933, when he was carrying the popular ball and they had either to go along with him or be put in the class of obstructionists.

REFS Appetite
Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald, who is chalking up a record for home construction, has a butler named Matthew. Matthew not only runs all the details of McDonald's bachelor establishment, but knows the politics and habits of all his master's guests.

The other day, McDonald told him, "I'm having a little stag dinner tonight, and I ordered a little caviar." "How much?" asked Matthew. "Just a pint." "Is Jesse Jones coming?" inquired Matthew a little apprehensively. "Yes," replied McDonald. "Then you'd better order four quarts."

Taken Loans
Don't mention "taken loans" to RFC Chairman Jesse Jones if you are trying to get a favor from him. The hefty Texan is very sensitive about the expression. When criticism began popping over his failure to aid small business men, despite all the ballyhoo about what he was going to do for them, Jesse ordered a few loans to be dish out. In all, about a hundred were made for sums ranging from $75 to $300.

Among the RFC staff these handouts, purely window-dressing to counter the charge that Jesse wasn't helping small business men, were tagged derisively "taken loans." Jesse became very peeved, scowled sourly when he overheard the witticism.

British Minister Attacks Hitler as Head of Anti-Jewish Drive

Torquay, England, Nov. 18 — (AP)—The Marquess of Zetland, secretary of state for India, today laid Germany's anti-Jewish measures squarely at the door of Chancellor Hitler's government.

In an outspoken address, at a national government rally, the 62-year-old peer became the first British cabinet member directly to accuse the government of responsibility for the anti-Jewish violence of the past week.

He said it had "rudely shaken" his hope that the four-power Munich agreement of September 29 would open a new chapter in human history.

Declaring the assassination of the German diplomat Ernst vom Rath by a Jew in Paris last week was "deplorable," the marquess said:

"But one stands aghast at the wholesale and vindictive retaliation against thousands of innocent persons in which the German government have thought fit to indulge."

He quoted Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels as having expressed a desire that Great Britain show no interest in how Germany solved the Jewish question. He replied thus:

"The mere expression of a wish on the part of even so exalted a person as the minister of public enlightenment is incapable of stifling the conscience of a whole people and not the conscience of the British people only but of the whole civilized world."

Rural Electrification in Illinois Increases

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 18 — (AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission reported today the use of electric service by farm families in Illinois had more than doubled in three and one-half years.

The report estimated that approximately 50,000 farms have been supplied by rural electrification lines this year. In several counties, the commission reported, electricity now is available to more than 50 per cent of the farms and in many company serviced areas 80 to 90 per cent of the rural residents may be served.

Twenty-two incorporated rural electrification administration co-operatives now are operating in part or all of 74 counties, the report added.

THREE GREATEST TRADE NATIONS SIGN TREATIES

Great Britain, Canada and United States in Agreement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The United States' trade agreements with Great Britain and Canada bring the number of reciprocal pacts to 19. The new treaties will run for at least three years, beginning January 1.

Great Britain granted tariff cuts or other concessions on about 450 American products; Canada gave concessions on 1,459 American products. The United States gave Britain 150 concessions and Canada 400.

In general, Britain lowered tariffs on various American farm products, and Canada on many American factory goods. The United States cut duties on British-manufactured goods and Canadian raw products.

Concessions by the United States go automatically to countries having "most-favored-nation" treaties—virtually every nation except Germany.

by ANDRUE BEDRING.
Washington, Nov. 18 — (AP)—The three greatest merchant nations—Great Britain, Canada and the United States—offered one another far-reaching tariff reductions today in the expressed hope of increasing foreign trade and thereby preserving world peace.

Historic commercial agreements, giving concessions on more than 2,250 products, were signed late yesterday in the mirrored East Room of the White House.

Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada and Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, joined Secretary of State Hull in predicting that better international understanding and cooperation would result.

"Unfair Competition."
But from some quarters came assertions the agreements would place certain American producers in an unfair competitive position. Governors Aiken of Vermont and Barrows of Maine, both Republicans, declared the tariff concessions discriminated against New England.

John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, said the industry's hopes for substantial relief from the Canadian tariff barriers against American coal had not been realized.

On the other hand, Thomas J. Watson, president of the International Chamber of Commerce, called the documents "timely aid to international trade."

Federal officials estimated that between $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 in trade was directly or indirectly affected by the two agreements.

British Concessions.
The principal concessions received by the United States from Great Britain were on agricultural products. All customs duties on American wheat, lamb, canned grapefruit and some fruit juices were removed; duties on rice, apples, pears and some canned fruits were reduced substantially; the quota on American hams was increased; duties on ham and some other pork products, corn and cotton were "bound," that is, guaranteed to remain at the present rate.

The removal of the six-cent-a-bushel duty on American wheat, officials said, should prove a boon to American railroads, ports and shipping. Canadian wheat, which formerly had to move from a Canadian port in order to enjoy preferential treatment, now can go out through American ports.

Experts of the agriculture department said that in general the treaties should broaden the market for American farm products, but would not solve the problem of wheat and cotton surpluses.

The United Kingdom gave the United States concessions on a variety of manufactured products, including office and electrical machinery and appliances, automobiles, chemicals and silk stockings.

U. S. Concessions.
In return the United States gave Great Britain substantial concessions averaging 25 per cent reductions on textiles, whether of cotton, flax, hemp, jute or wool. The duty on whiskey, which is Britain's largest export to the United States, was "bound" at $2.50 a gallon.

In some cases concessions made by or to the United States were balanced by concessions in the agreement with Canada. This was the reason for signing both agreements at the same time.

Canada made her major tariff cuts on American fruits and vegetables, fish, paper, wood, chemicals, heavy iron and steel products, machinery, aircraft and engines, and textiles. She also eliminated the three per cent special import tax hitherto imposed on all the items mentioned in the agreement.

United States concessions to Canada centered in live cattle, hogs and pork products, cheese, eggs, grains, other than wheat, grain by-products, maple sugar, potatoes, fish, acetic acid, brick, nickel, aluminum, zinc, cadmium, cast-iron products, paper and silver-iron furs.

Germany Not Benefitted.
All the tariff concessions made by the United States in the two treaties were extended automatically to all countries enjoying "most-favored-nation treatment" here. Virtually the only country not enjoying it is Germany, owing to her discrimination against American products.

On products in which Britain and Germany tend to compete in the American market, Germany now will find it more difficult to face British competition, because she must still pay the old duties imposed by the Smoot-Hawley tariff of 1930.

After signing the trade treaty, Secretary Hull and Ambassador Lindsay of Great Britain changed notes guaranteeing sympathetic consideration to representations either nation might make regarding access to the other's raw materials. Officials regarded this as significant in case of wartime need of primary materials.

Proponents said the Anglo-American commercial agreement, high point of Secretary Hull's reciprocal trade program, disclosed three outstanding facts:

1. It reverses the British trend toward protectionism. Britain began to impose protective tariffs during and after the World War and greatly increased them in the last six years.
2. It cuts appreciably into the Ottawa preferential agreement of 1932 which tended to link Britain and her dominions in a closer economic unit and to shut certain American goods from British markets.
3. It opens the world-flung British colonial empire to United States trade. At present the United States buys more than four times as much from the colonies as she sells, the total trade with them averaging $400,000,000 a year.

The British and Canadian agreements go into effect January 1 for a three-year period and may continue in force indefinitely thereafter, subject to termination by either government on six-months' notice.

The agreement with the United Kingdom includes northern Ireland, Newfoundland and more than 50 British colonies. American negotiators hope to complete the picture of commerce with the British empire by opening discussions with the Dominions of Australia, New Zealand and the Union of South Africa and the Indian Empire.

Congressman Martin to Delay Induction so He Can Complete State Job

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 18 — (AP)—State Treasurer John C. Martin, newly elected congressman-at-large, said today he expects to finish his term as treasurer but that he may resign as chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

Martin, who has been commission chairman since 1935, said there was a legal question whether he was eligible to hold federal and state posts at the same time although the relief chairmanship carries no salary.

The Democratic official said also he doubted that he would have sufficient time to devote to the relief commission after assuming his congressional seat.

By delaying for a week his induction as congressman, Martin said he planned to complete his term as treasurer. Ordinarily he would take the oath in Congress on Jan. 3, but because his term as treasurer does not expire until Jan. 9, he said he would put off the congressional installation.

Omar H. Wright of Belvidere is vice-chairman of the commission which currently is providing relief for approximately 172,000 cases in the state.

While he has been chairman three years, Treasurer Martin has been a member of the IERC since 1933.

The Democratic official, back at his desk here after an illness that prevented him from making any speaking appearances during the recent campaign, said his health is much improved.

Einstein Warns United States of "Flatterers"

New York, Nov. 18 — (AP)—Dr. Albert Einstein spoke today against what he termed a "small, unscrupulous and insolvent group" in Germany, and warned of anti-Semitic attempts in the United States.

The 59-year-old author of the theory of relativity, writing in Collier's Magazine, asserted that anti-Semitism not only had protected privileged classes in Germany, but had "enabled a small, unscrupulous and insolvent group to place the German people in a state of complete bondage."

Himself a refugee from Germany, whence he fled in 1933, Einstein cautioned of past anti-Semitic attempts in the United States. He warned, "They will repeat the attempt in times to come. So far, all such tendencies have failed because of the people's strong political instinct."

"And so it will remain in the future, if we cling to this rule: Beware of flatterers, especially when they come preaching hatred."

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No, it is decreasing, thanks be. This heartening fact has been brought out by Prof. Wm. F. Ogburn, University of Chicago sociologist. He has shown that about July 1928, the curve of divorce, which had been steadily rising for many years, turned slightly downward and that since then it has taken quite a marked drop. This is not because fewer people are getting married. Statistics show that more people marry now than ever before, at least any time within the past fifty years.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. No, it is more often a sign of low intelligence and is regarded by one or two leading investigators as being akin to epilepsy. Most people who have violent outbursts of temper are simply emotional adolescents—adult children—who have never learned how to control their emotions and still think the way to get what they want is to kick and scream and cut up generally as they did when children.

Indignation at real wrong doing is one thing but, as a rule, when you see a person hopping mad you are witnessing pure childishness.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Certainly, you and I can hardly begin to realize how our whole system of government—even the fundamental objects of having government at all—have changed since we study the leading authorities. We have had no revolution—and never will have—but, as the authorities show, our government has changed more since its beginning than France was changed by the French Revolution. Both parties today pretty well agree that many of the aims of the "New Deal" are the proper aims of our government today, but they were not the aims of our government at all even twenty-five years ago.

85 Head of Cattle Including 20 Pure-Blood Herefords, Die in Fire

St. Charles, Ill., Nov. 18 — (AP)—Eighty-five head of cattle, including 20 pure-blood Herefords, perished, and Percy Meredith and his brother, Lyle, suffered burns yesterday when a fire destroyed a barn on the Meredith farm, 15 miles west of here.

The brothers were burned about the face, arms and legs as they dashed into the burning barn in an attempt to rescue the show cattle, including a prize-winner. Nearby farmers formed a bucket brigade. With the aid of the Elburn fire department the blaze was extinguished before spreading to the house, garage and other buildings. The origin of the fire was not determined.

Percy Meredith, who estimated the total loss at between $20,000 and $25,000, said 65 young Hereford heaves and a team of horses were lost in the fire. He saved his herd bull.

One of the pure-breds that perished was a three-year-old cow, Sabatha, which was a blue ribbon winner of the Hereford class for three years at the Wisconsin state fair and for two years at the Kentucky state fair.

FANFARE—

By DON DANIELSON

A week ago today Dixon high school ended its gridiron season in a blaze of glory with a 13 to 0 triumph over Sterling. With the end of the season, the figures have been compiled and now the picture can be told in the form of statistics for the season. These include records on all of the games with the exception of the first with Rock Falls. The initial game was played in a downpour of rain which washed all statistics away, but an accurate account of the other seven games has been kept. In the matter of backfield action, there are these figures:

Players	Times Carried the Ball	Yards Made	Average Per Try
Louie Bevilacqua, halfback	82	316	3.85
Earl Page, halfback	55	195	3.54
Tom Richards, fullback	66	248	3.75
John Moore, quarterback	17	48	2.82
Gene Ashford, halfback	26	97	3.73
Emmert, quarterback	7	25	3.57
Reese, halfback	7	20	2.85
Other players	12	34	2.83
TEAM AVERAGE	272	983	3.61

Chuck Smith of Dixon lost to Charles Calvert of East Moline in the first bout on the Gyro club's boxing card at Sterling last night. Both boys threw a lot of wild punches in this class for 150-pounders and Calvert's experience won for him. Linto Guerrieri of Rock Falls who fought in the fights in Dixon last spring, knocked Donald Stoker of Lincoln in the windup. Guerrieri knocked Stoker through the ropes for a five count in the first round and displayed his best form in the last two rounds to win an unanimous decision. About 1,000 fans attended the fights.

A start has been made at Mendota to form an athletic club for the young men of the community. The idea is to give the members a place where they can meet and be trained in the many arts of boxing and train properly under the advice of several who have been through the mill and know what one must do to fit himself for the ring. Pat Reeder was elected president of the organization at a recent meeting and Dick Lasswell was chosen secretary-treasurer. Orin Dewhart was elected as manager and "Shoe" Virgil as well as his brother Albert will be the trainers. It is believed that about 45 young men will want a membership in the club.

The wind-up of the grid season with its attraction of several feature games in the Middle West is calling out many Dixonites to help fill the stadiums tomorrow. Among those who will attend the Northwestern-Notre Dame game at Evanston are: Mr. and Mrs. Royal Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Earl James, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Yount, Attorney Robert Bracken and a party of four, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hofmann, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Jones, Mr. and Mrs. William Loftus, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver M. Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Campbell.

Dixon high school's rightful claim to the North Central conference's football championship is clearly displayed in the statistics of the season which include all the dates with the exception of the first game which was with Rock Falls. These figures read:

Dixon	Oppon.
Yards gained from rushing	1082
Yards lost from rushing	99
Net rushing gain	983
Yards gained on passes	338
Yards gained on punt returns	198
Yards gained on kick-off returns	258
Net scrimmage gain	1777
First downs (total)	71
First downs from rushing	48
First downs from passing	12
First downs from penalties	22
Number of penalties	22
Yards lost on penalties	210
Passes attempted	62
Passes completed	19
Passes incomplete	35
Opponents' passes intercepted	13
Number of fumbles	20
Own fumbles recovered	16
Opponents' fumbles recovered	9

CALIFORNIANS TO FIGHT IN 'CHAMP' BATTLE THIS EVE

Corbett III Is Favored To Win Over Rival in New York City

New York, Nov. 18—(AP)—Having finished their training without the fracture of a single sacro-iliac, Freddie Apostoli and young Corbett 3rd clash at Madison Square Garden tonight for the "World Middleweight championship," as it is understood by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Prospects were that the two Californians will settle their argument in semi-privacy, with fewer than 10,000 scattered about the big arena. The fight has failed to catch on, partly because the house has been sealed at championship prices and many fans do not think it is a bona fide championship fight.

The title for which Apostoli and Corbett fight is an ephemeral something, created by the state boxing commission. The other 160-pound title is held by Solly Krieger of Brooklyn, by virtue of his recent win over Al Hostak in Seattle.

Beat Solly Twice
Apostoli beat Solly twice, knocking him out the second time, before Solly "snuck" up on Hostak. In the opinion of impartial critics, Apostoli and Corbett are the two best middleweights in the world today, whatever the status of tonight's scrap.

Corbett, 33 and a southpaw, won a 10-round decision from Apostoli in San Francisco last February, much to the surprise of nearly everybody. The betting is 5 to 9 there will be a different result tonight, and the probability is that Apostoli will be declared the winner before the 15 rounds are up.

Apostoli Is Younger
Apostoli, younger and the harder hitter, has learned something about fighting left-handers. The popular guess is that he will beat Corbett in the last five rounds.

It will be Corbett's first fight here in some 10 years. He lost a decision to Sammy Baker in his last appearance here, and he didn't like it.

"I'm sure I'll beat Apostoli

Former Dixon Grid Star Offers His Pigskin Picks Today

Days are getting shorter and temperatures are falling. The season is drawing to its close and all those pigskin pickers who now take a run on the springboard and plop into the swimming hole are likely to go through thin ice first or slip on the board and miss the pool completely.

Of the eight for whom the "No Trespassing" sign meant nothing this year, there is only one left. This brave member of the Polar Bear club makes his leap today. He is Elwood W. Schultz, former Dixon grid star and captain of the 1929 team.

Other divers who have gone before Schultz have either found the water so muddy they couldn't distinguish objects beneath the surface or they have become mired in the quicksands of low percentages. But Schultz may take the experiences of these brothers for his warning. Today he rubbed himself with grease to keep out the cold (commercial plug) and is ready for the dive.

We are standing off to the side—careful to keep away from the cracked ice which might fly up and hit us in the eye. There he goes in a perfectly executed swan dive and all we can do is hope he doesn't hit his head on the rock of upsets.

By ELWOOD W. SCHULTZ
MINNESOTA AT WISCONSIN
—Too much All-American timber in the Wisconsin backfield. Minnesota has the superior line, but the guards do not carry the ball. Wisconsin's day.

MICHIGAN AT OHIO STATE
—I pick Ohio State and say nothing.

INDIANA AT PURDUE—Purdue should win this one by a good margin.

ILLINOIS AT CHICAGO
—Neither team has done very well in the win column this season, but I'll take the Illini.

NOTRE DAME AT NORTHWESTERN—Anything can happen, as has been shown, but we will bet our dime on the Irish.

NEBRASKA AT IOWA—The Iowa boys have been well cornfed, but look out, here come the Cornhuskers. Nebraska in this one.

OKLAHOMA AT IOWA STATE—Iowa State will be out of its class in this one. I will take Oklahoma.

HARVARD AT YALE—Harvard by a nose.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN AT RICE
—Texas Christian should keep its record intact in this one.

FLORIDA AT GEORGIA TECH
—This should be Georgia Tech all the way.

SOUTH CAROLINA AT FORDHAM—The Rams all the way.

PENN STATE AT PITTSBURGH—Jock Sutherland's boys should win this one. Pittsburgh.

DE PAUL AT CENTENARY
—After last week's upset of Mississippi State by Centenary, I'll take Centenary.

SYRACUSE AT COLUMBIA
—If this Luckman ever comes through, look out! This should be his day. Columbia.

STANFORD AT CALIFORNIA
—California will be out to win this one. Probable Rose Bowl team, so California all the way.

ARMY AT PRINCETON—This game can go either way. I will ride with the Army.

TEMPLE AT MICHIGAN STATE—Charlie Bachman's team will take the Warner system for a ride. Michigan State.

WASHINGTON AT OREGON
—Washington's victory over Southern California last week makes Jimmy Phelan's team the favorite. Washington.

TULSA AT DETROIT—Detroit should win this one after a tough struggle.

MISSOURI AT ST. LOUIS
—Two good teams, but we favor Missouri.

STRATEGY BOARD COMPLETE

St. Louis, Nov. 18—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns' strategy board was complete today, with former Pacific Coast Leaguer Frank Shellenback replacing Oscar Melillo, who was given an unconditional release.

Shellenback, a spitball pitcher with the White Sox in 1919, will work with Coach Fred Hofmann under the Browns' new manager, Fred Haney.

SOMETHING MISSING.
Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 18—Indiana's football team averaged 11 first downs a game for its first seven contests this season yet scored only two touchdowns and won only one game.

"Lefty" With Control

Provo, Utah, Nov. 18—(AP)—Here is a "Lefty" with lots of control.

Twenty-one-year-old Kenneth Sofke boots a football with his left foot and his Brigham Young university mates reckon him to be the best kicker of field goals in college football this year.

He has booted four three-pointers from placement this season and has one more game to go. His longest kick was one from the 26-yard line in a night game with Denver university.

Sofke also has kicked six points after touchdown and missed only one.

MONMOUTH TAKES TIME OUT FOR A BIG PEP SESSION

Monmouth, Ill., Nov. 18—(AP)—Students at Monmouth college attended classes this morning.

Sure, they are supposed to attend classes every Friday, but this one Friday is an exception. It's the Friday Knox and Monmouth colleges meet in football. Tradition says no classes on that day.

Last year classes were ordered as usual but students at both colleges went on strike, picketing the campuses and keeping conscientious students and faculty members alike away from class rooms.

The deans thought it a "put-up job." Dean J. S. Cleland at Monmouth compromised with the students today. He agreed to cut classes in half, hold chapel at 10 a. m., so the students then could have the rest of the morning for their pep meeting.

The game is one of the oldest rivalries in the middle west, today's scrap being the 54th meeting between the two colleges.

The teams battled for years on Thanksgiving day, but the date was changed to the preceding Friday to enable students to attend the game without missing the holiday.

PROTECTING THE GATE.
New York, Nov. 18—College teams from the west or midwest who are scheduled to play in Madison Square Garden must agree not to play any other cage contests within 200 miles of New York City.

BELGIAN BACK.
Detroit, Nov. 18—Al Chesquiere, Detroit University left halfback, is the first Belgian-American ever to play for the Titans, who have had practically every nationality on their squad.

Amethyst is regarded by the superstitious as a love charm, a sleep-producer, and a protection against thieves and drunkenness.

ANNUAL THANKSGIVING CONTEST 2 TURKEYS-3 C

So much favorable comment was received when this contest was conducted last year, we've decided to make it an annual affair. Everyone is invited to join into the fun, and best of all it does not cost you a single penny. Just read the instructions -- then start. All of the advertisements on these two pages have letters omitted from words used in composing them and the complete message can be interpreted only by taking the letters of the alphabet at the bottom of each advertisement and placing them in their proper places. The letters at the bottom of each advertisement can be used only in the respective LIGHT CONTROL—They distribute daylight over your room and eliminate glare. By providing soft, diffused, controlled light they make eye-strain unnecessary.

VENTILATION—Westerns direct air to the ceiling thus preventing dangerous drafts. For sleeping rooms, sitting rooms, sick rooms they aid health and comfort.

TEMPERATURE—Strong sunlight and cool winds can easily be kept out. Invaluable in summer for keeping out heat, in winter for keeping warmth in.

BEAUTY AND CHARM—Available in many colors, Westerns blend or contrast with decorative schemes. They lend charm and dignity to exteriors as well as interiors and are equally suitable in both modern and traditional homes.

LEWIS IS NAMED AS PRESIDENT OF LABOR CONGRESS

Five Hundred Delegates From More Than Forty Unions Go Wild

Pittsburgh, Nov. 18.—(AP)—John L. Lewis was elected first president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations today, following a 28-minute tumultuous demonstration by 500 delegates representing some 3,800,000 workers in more than 40 national and international unions.

The veteran labor leader was nominated by his long-time friend and right-hand lieutenant, Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers and chairman of the steel workers organizing committee.

The end of the speech was the signal for a deafening demonstration. Horns sounded, drums beat, balloons drifted down from the balcony of the dailly-decorated hall. Bells rang. Delegates stood on chairs yelling, then joined in parades.

Recalling their association of 26 years in the labor movement, Murray said Lewis had been a constant champion of the principles of industrial democracy.

Lewis' goal, Murray said, had been the "better distribution of the profits of industry."

Lieutenant Governor Thomas Kennedy of Pennsylvania, secretary-treasurer of Lewis' United Mine Workers, asked if there were any other nominations and delegates yelled "No."

Hugh Thompson of Buffalo, a C. I. O. regional director, then moved the nominations be closed and Lewis was elected unanimously.

Responding, Lewis said: "This marks my transition from the role of a dictator to the role of a servant of a constitutional democracy. What a change for a dictator."

"Your servant I am and proudly so."

The C. I. O. was organized three years ago by Lewis and leaders of eight unions which bolted the American Federation of Labor. All but one of the unions, the International Ladies Garment Workers, are members of the congress.

Founded the C. I. O. Lewis' founding of the C. I. O. Murray said, resulted in the raising of wages and shortening of hours for industrial organizations, and "benefitted all the nation's workers either directly or indirectly."

Murray estimated the gain of all workers amounted to about four billion dollars a year on the basis of contracts and wage increases won by the C. I. O. Steel Workers Union.

Before Lewis' nomination and election the delegates passed rapidly a score of resolutions.

In one headed "protection of democracy" it pledged support to legislation "that would be formulated by the federal administration" to prevent an "aid or comfort" being given to "aggressor nations which are so determined to bring fascism to the world."

It also urged President Roosevelt and the government to co-operate with all other democratic nations to protect and strengthen "democracy and democratic institutions."

Pledge Support to Bridges The convention also pledged full support to Harry Bridges, C. I. O. west coast director in his fight against deportation to his native Australia, and Harold Pritchett, of the timber workers union, who has been prevented from entering the United States.

Lewis personally said he wanted to thank the west coast labor for waging such a "constructive fight" under leadership of the two men.

"I take this opportunity to express my personal confidence and that of the C. I. O. in the leadership of Harry Bridges and Harold Pritchett," Lewis said.

Other Resolutions In other resolutions the 500 delegates: Urged congress to increase the United States housing authority's capital from $800,000,000 to five billion.

Instructed the executive board to thoroughly study technological unemployment and work for legislation for a 6-hour day; 30 hour work-week.

Charged the American Newspaper Guild had been "subjected to a studied and ruthless attack by the huge financial interests which the Hearst newspapers represent" and urged C. I. O. members to "give all possible aid and support to guild aims and activities in organizing Hearst employees."

ELEVEN DEAD AND MANY INJURED IN CRUSH IN TURKEY

Istanbul, Turkey, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Eleven persons died, many were injured and others fainting today in a crush of persons trying to get into Dolma Bagtche palace to view the body of the late President Kamal Ataturk.

Most of the casualties were among women.

The crowd was estimated at 100,000. Approximately 300,000 filed past the body yesterday.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

Ankara, Nov. 18.—Turkey's new president, General Ismet Inonu, is facing perhaps the most difficult task of any of the world's leaders as he takes over office through the death of Kamal Ataturk.

Ataturk was a genius, a tremendous driving force, the idol of the masses.

When the end came he was in the midst of his revolutionary modernization of the country—an upheaval that called for the discarding of religious, political and social customs which had existed for centuries.

Beyond that the international situation as related to Turkey is delicate and vastly important. The great nazi politico-economic drive to the east has reached this country. Many turks also look fearfully towards Italy, feeling that Mussolini may have an idea or orientation in this direction.

All in all, the hand that takes the wheel relinquished by Ataturk, the lone worker, must be an iron one. This is particularly necessary since there are strong political cross currents which have been kept in control only by often ruthless force.

Turkish politics sometimes have taken violent trends in the past and many men have suffered for revolt against the powers that were.

General Ismet Inonu is credited with being the strongest man of the country. This is a designation which he will have ample opportunity to substantiate for he will encounter plenty of opposition if the political wisecracks are right.

STILL FIGHTING It was generally supposed that if the Townsend candidates were defeated, the plan and the thousands of clubs all over the United States would, like the Arab, fold their tents and silently steal away. But, what a mistaken idea. Last night, Nov. 16th, club No. 1 gave another of their well known entertainments. A piping hot soup supper to which nearly 150 hungry Townsends and their friends came to enjoy the food and free dancing. Three Dixon speakers gave short talks. Much of the credit for the success of club No. 1 is due to the president, Mrs. Nettie Dixon Fassler, who has worked untiringly for the good of the club. No. 1 and the Townsend plan. Not only is it true that the Dixon Townsends are determined to fight harder than ever but such is the case all over the 48 states. We have a fight that we must win, not only for ourselves and the aged people, but for the youth and those who do not or will not understand the principle of the General Welfare Act.

thought of proposing liberalization of existing immigration quotas to take care of additional refugees, but added he had no doubt congress would permit the refugees to remain here. The chief executive cited American action in permitting a number of Russians to remain in the United States after that country was taken over by the Soviets.

Attorney General Cummings, meanwhile, compared anti-Semitic activities in Nazi Germany today to medieval tortures inflicted upon Christians many centuries ago.

"The recent happenings in Germany with reference to the persecutions of Jews have shocked the conscience of the world," Cummings said in a former statement.

"It shows what happens when sheer brute force takes the place of reason. It is a sordid picture and as uncivilized as the cruelties of 19 centuries ago when Christians were fed to wild beasts."

Secretary of State Hull disclosed, meanwhile, that he had asked Myron C. Taylor, former head of the United States Steel Corporation and first American delegate in the work to help refugees, to return to London to stimulate assistance for the hundreds of thousands of German refugees needing new homes. Taylor, Hull said, plans to sail from this country November 26.

WPA Worker Gives Life To Save His Son, Age 10

Indianapolis, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Robert Branham, 38, Works Progress Administration worker, gave his life last night for that of his 10-year-old son, Robert, Jr. An electric interurban caught them on a 160-foot-long trestle over Eagle creek as they crossed to hunt. Branham seized the boy, raced ahead and, just before the car struck, held his son over the edge.

The father was killed on a stone abutment 40 feet below. The boy fell, too, but was only bruised.

Poor Egyptians Endowed By Birth of Princess Cairo, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Thousands of poor were given new clothes and free meals by the government today as Egypt celebrated the birth of a princess to 17-year-old Queen Farida yesterday.

The ministry of education presented suits and dresses to 20,000 school children.

Official celebrations included military parades in Cairo, Alexandria and other cities.

News of the Churches

The noblest mind the best contentment has.

—Spenser.
If thou didst but consider how much inward peace unto thyself, and joy unto others, thou wouldst procure by demeaning thyself well, I think that thou wouldst be more careful of thy spiritual progress.

—Thomas a Kempis.
He (God) gives us always strength enough and sense enough for what He wants us to do; if we either tire ourselves or puzzle ourselves, it is our own fault. And we may be sure, whatever we are doing, that we cannot be pleasing Him if we are not happy ourselves.

—John Ruskin.
Contentment with not dwell with him who has jealousy, envy or hatred in his heart. Contentment flourishes best in a heart filled with tolerance and good will. Its strength comes from a deep, abiding trust in God.

—Alfred Grant Walton.
Spiritual living and blessedness are the only evidences, by which we can recognize true existence and feel the unspeakable peace which comes from an all-absorbing spiritual love.

—Mary Baker Eddy.
To be spiritually minded is life and peace.

—Romans 8:6.

Conferees will attempt to draft a program which would substitute uniform assessment and tax collection practices for the present varying regulations of most states. The program would include establishment of a uniform date for assessing property for taxation, a standard practice in assessing merchandise in storage and uniform regulations for assessment of property on which federal taxes previously have been paid.

"It is not our purpose to change the political philosophy of taxation of the several states," Herbert L. Mount, Wisconsin Tax Commissioner said, "or the tax policy of those states."

Mount said wide variations in state tax laws and practices led to conflicts which invite evasion rather than cooperation by the taxpayer, and such evasion made taxation on other forms of taxable property the more burdensome.

PREDICTS FDR WILL ASK CONGRESS FOR 9,280 NEW PLANES

Boston, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, predicted today that President Roosevelt would ask Congress for an army air force of upwards of 9,280 fighting planes.

Johnson, a key figure in the President's restudy of national defense needs, gave the first official outline of parts of the administration's prospective armament program. He told a conference of New England business leaders that "our air supremacy is threatened" by Europe's advances.

"To meet the tremendous pace that the rest of the world is setting, we must double, yes, treble and perhaps even quadruple our present air force with the best airplanes that can possibly be produced," Johnson said.

The Army's present goal of 2,320 first-line planes by mid-1940 he termed "far below our immediate needs."

"Mass production of airplanes we must achieve in this country and we must do so immediately," Johnson continued.

A six-month supply of weapons and supplies for an army of a million men is another outstanding administration objective, he indicated.

Without referring to President Roosevelt's assertion that national defense involved security of the entire Western Hemisphere, Johnson declared that "right now we are weak in the sinews of battle to protect even our own shores."

The burly, partly-bald assistant secretary gave no estimates of the cost of the far-reaching proposals or the dates for attaining the new objectives. War department spokesmen told Congress this year however that equipping the projected 1,000,000-man force with essential" arms and supplies would cost $440,000,000.

Two Navy Fliers Killed In Pearl Harbor Crash

Honolulu, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Two Navy fliers were killed and five others injured last night when one of the VP-10 squadron bombers which pioneered the Navy-SX mass flights across the Pacific crashed into a boathouse at the Pearl Harbor fleet air base during an attempted landing.

Instantly killed were Lieutenant, Junior Grade, P. H. Ashworth, 30, Wenham, Mass., and Aviation Cadet, J. W. Beam of Bardtown, Ky.

The federal and state gasoline taxes during 1937 averaged $32.31 for every motor vehicle.

address prepared for delivery before the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation, took occasion to discuss the general situation.

After praising the present farm policy he declared he was not saying it was impossible to produce a better program.

"But I am saying," said the assistant secretary "that a better one is not in sight for the immediate future. And I am saying that we may be in much worse condition if we cripple or do away with our present program."

"It is my personal opinion that the present program is sound in principle, x x x it needs improving and strengthening, but if it is given a fair trial, I believe it will help Arkansas farmers as well as all other farmers."

"We should remember that this program has been in operation less than a year."

The Army Post Murders

By VIRGINIA HANSON

THE CHARACTERS.
Katherine Cornish, myself, visiting Elizabeth on a mid-western Army post.
Elizabeth, Colonel Wright's daughter.
Adam Drew, acting commanding officer.

Yesterday: Adam questions Mary Shaw.

Chapter 12.
A DIFFERENT SLANT.
"You knew her," Adam said simply. "For some time I have thought she was unhappy, tormented. Do you know why?"
She made a little artificial gesture with her long, brittle hands. "Anne was not the confiding sort. One knows, of course, certain things from experience. It is not always easy to choose between two men. One falters from inflicting a severe hurt. . . Have you questioned young Spencer?"

"Your husband and Nelson were classmates, I believe. Did you know him at the Point?"
There was a perceptible pause, but the answer, when it came, seemed candid—almost too candid.

"Yes, I had been engaged to Phil for some months when I met Barney. I said just now that I could understand Anne's problem. Believe me, I, too, was very unhappy until I found the right solution. I tell you this, of course, in the strictest confidence. Not for the world would I have let Anne know of it. I was very happy that he had found the right girl at last—in fact, I may say I fostered the romance. Poor Barney! One might almost believe it an adverse fate!"

Adam made clucking noises and searched her face with his brilliant eyes. He had another question for her. Confidentially, what did she think of Barney's brief flurries with Elizabeth?

She got out of that one rather neatly without casting a shadow on Elizabeth, who, after all, was the daughter of the commanding officer. I could not help reflecting that Mary Shaw would have made an able wife for a diplomat.

According to her the thing was vastly overrated. Anne had sent Barney away until she could test her own feelings and make up her mind. Barney had sought companionship and sympathy from Elizabeth until Anne dismissed Charlie and called him back. This she admitted to be surmise; Anne had confided in no one.

It was a singularly apt surmise, I reflected. If true—and I admitted the theory was plausible—Charlie was the only logical suspect.

Suddenly my mind was illuminated by a flash of memory. Was it really only that afternoon that I had leaped through the Howitzer and found Barney's and Shaw's biographies? Clearly I recalled the last terse, descriptive phrase under Shaw's picture.

"Chief claim to distinction: the man who tried to spoil Swede's beauty."

I must tell Adam about that at once. I gathered my closely scribbled sheets and waited, tense for Mary Shaw to effect her lingering departure. Certain formalities must be observed, mutual sympathy and helpfulness expressed. I rose impatiently and stood just behind the curtains, while Adam ceremoniously ushered her out.

Short, Bull-Dog Figure.
But I had no opportunity to impart my scrap of information, for the subject of it followed Adam uneasily into the room, wearing his most petulant, defensive scowl.

I sat down again and studied him—a short, bulldog figure who might be effective in a scrap. Why had he mixed with Barney? Over Mary? But what connection could that have with murder—Adam?

Once more I watched, with envy, Adam's peculiar talent for putting people at ease. Shaw did not refuse a cigarette. Adam leaned comfortably back, legs crossed, and talked through the smoke that made a blue veil between them. He asked no questions; he told Shaw what he had been doing, with an air of thinking aloud, and presently the younger man relaxed his defensive attitude and put in a word.

"Say, what did you do looking like he had seen a ghost, and they hadn't got out of the club before that battle-axe mother of his was pumping him hot and heavy?"

"Did she get anything out of him?" Adam asked idly.
"Not that I could hear," Shaw admitted frankly. "His jaw was shut like a steel trap. What was it all about?"

"He just talked out of turn," Shaw snickered. "I figured it might be that. He'd be sure to bring it up."

Adam put both feet on the floor. "What do you mean?"
"The same thing you mean. I don't know how you missed hearing about it before. He's shot off his mouth enough since it happened."

"You mean—about Anne?"
"Yeah. Now don't get sore at me too. I know all about it, and it's true enough as far as it goes. Only it was a put-up job, and Wheeler doesn't know that."

Adam eyed him coldly. "Go on."

"Well, you see, it was several weeks, maybe a couple of months ago—about the time Charlie Spencer started dragging her. We had some house guests and Charlie and Anne dropped in. You know the Wheelers live in the other half of our quarters and Anne saw him sitting by the window reading when they arrived. Ma Wheeler had gone to Chicago on a shopping spree. Don't know how she could bear to let her little boy out of her sight, but she's got him pretty well trained. You know he's not allowed to mingle with us bad boys and girls."

"Well, Anne said there was poor Wheeler all alone over there listening to the party, and why didn't Mary call up and ask him to come over?"

"Well, Mary did ask him once and he declined with horror. So she said never again. And she said why didn't Anne go on over and cheer him up if she thought he needed it. So Anne said he'd probably call out the guard."

"Pretty soon it began to look like a swell idea to rib Anne up to breaking in on Wheeler. The girls got to work on her, and I think somebody dared her. We went out in the yard and we could see him still sitting there all alone, reading. Though how he could get any sense out of a book with all the noise we'd been making, I don't know.

Thinking fast.

"Anyway, Anne promised to give him the thrill of his life. The front door was open and she just walked in. He was facing the other way and before he knew she was there she had plumped down on his lap, wrapped her arms around him and kissed him like he was Clark Gable."

"We could see it all as plain as day from the lawn. The blinds were way up and the lights full on. Well, you've seen a woman get mixed up with a mouse at close quarters. That was Wheeler. He let out a queer sort of bleat, jumped up and tore her loose from him like she was so much poison ivy, backed into a corner and held both hands straight out in front of him to make her keep her distance. He needed, too. She turned on all the old siren stuff, stretched appealing arms toward him, looked at him soulfully. Been anybody but Wheeler he'd have smelled a rat."

"What happened?"
"That's about all I know. One of the girls was laughing too loud, so I took her back in our house. The rest of them said Wheeler came to and yanked down the blinds, so they came in too. But it wasn't long until the two of them, Wheeler and Anne, went past, going toward Anne's quarters. She was hanging on to his arm and half running, he was traveling so fast. I guess he took her home. Wheeler is been taking his head off ever since. Not the circumstances, you know. Just hints of what he could spill."

"And none of you ever told him the truth looked uncomfortable."

"How could you tell a man a thing like that? I guess everybody else on the post learned what really happened, so his talk didn't hurt Anne any."

"What do you make of this?" Adam asked him.
From the table in front of him he picked up the envelope into which I had seen him put the little lead slug which he had dug from the pillar on the dance floor.

Shaw poked at it with a thick, stubby finger.
"Thirty-two, isn't it? That's the one. . . ." His voice trailed off.

"No. The bullet that shot her lodged in the wound. This one hit a pillar on the far side of the floor."

Shaw whistled. "Are they from the same gun?"
"I don't know. The federal men will have to pass on that. But this was a fresh shot. . . ."

Something was dawning on Shaw's face.
"Say! Maybe I know something!" His thick, stubby hand darted across the table and fastened on Adam's arm. "Could that shot have been fired several hours ago—this afternoon?"

"Probably. What are you getting at?"
"You could see Shaw thinking fast."

"Well, I'm not sure. It sounds crazy. But they were dressed alike—those big red hearts. It would mean that somebody made an awful blunder—that the shot that killed Anne Carewe was meant for Barney Nelson!"

Tomorrow: A strange figure.

SLOT MACHINES DON'T PAY
Omaha, Neb. —(AP)—Instructor P. M. Rickabaugh of the Omaha Technical High School borrowed a confiscated slot machine from the sheriff, took it apart to expose its inner workings and had his pupils play it to prove they could NOT win.

Eighty-four pupils tried their luck with the "one-armed bandit", —by using slugs— and not one "broke even."

Rickabaugh said the machine was a "super-shyster" because its pay ratio was 40 per cent compared with the average machine's 80.

He pointed out that each wheel had 20 pictures but only 10 stops —thus reducing winning chances 50 per cent.

Of four combinations of bars (the jackpot combination) only one could work. Carriage wheel holes in the other three had been soldered, making it impossible for them to click.

OFFICIAL TURKEY TASTERS ATTACKED GOVERNMENT BIRDS

Washington, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A quartet of professional tasters, armed with a dull appetite and sharp cutlery, attacked today what has grown to be an annual task—the government turkey.

The stuffing's different, but the whole business is getting to be old stuff to them. However, it's all in the job and part of a program to bring better birds to the American table.

Imagine getting tired of turkey!

The experts on the festive fowl sit around a table at the agriculture department to light into the bird. It is their business to determine by taste the success of the government's experiments with turkeys.

Two women tasters and two gentlemen tasters usually compose the board. They have to start from scratch unaided by salt and pepper.

The big dish of today is the streamlined turkey of 1938—the product of government experimentation at Beltsville, Md.

Distinguished from the old-type turkey it has:

1. Shorter legs.
2. A broader back.
3. A plumper body.

The streamlined turkey is a big jump from the bird that adorned the groaning board spread by our grandmothers.

"That oldtime bird," explained Robert R. Slocum, marketing specialist, "weighed from 24 to 26 pounds. The streamliner will weigh from 12 to 15 pounds."

Why?

The answer is several-fold. Apartment houses have smaller kitchens than the houses of our elders, and smaller kitchens have smaller ovens and makers of cooking dishes are going in for smaller utensils.

But the nation isn't losing its appetite. It puts away about 17,500,000 turkeys a year. That's eating.

What will the turkey tasters have for their own Thanksgiving dinner?

Three of them will have turkey. One doesn't care for it particularly.

TO INCREASE SALARY

Buffalo, N. Y.—(AP)—Whether Mayor Thomas L. Hollings likes it or not, he may have to take his full salary of $12,000 this fiscal year instead of $9,600.

Last year the Buffalo mayor slashed his own salary voluntarily to $9,600 from $12,000. This fall an auditing firm, revising city employees' salaries, recommended widespread decreases and concluded by declaring the mayor's salary should be immediately restored to $12,000.

It takes 4½ hours to hardboil an ostrich egg.

WHIP PIERCED HEART

Johannesburg —(AP)— Armed with a long horsewhip with wire attached to the end, a native flicked it over oxen he was driving and on the rebound the wire pierced his heart. He died almost immediately.

Every inch of it says: LET'S GO!

EYE OPENER! With all its extra value, this Buick sedan lists at $51 less than last year!
Easy on the eye—easy to buy—on General Motors terms!

LOOK at it! Standing still, every inch seems itching to get going. Streaming along, as you see it here, it's the perfect picture of perfect action!

Now, just put yourself behind that wheel!

Imagine your eyes looking out over that comely, streamlined bonnet—your hand on that ready, instant-answering wheel—your foot on the gas treadle, bossing that ablesst of the straight-eights!

You hardly know your engine's turning, so quietly does it pour forth its power!

The big bad bumps are like a mill pond's ripples, so smoothly do giant coil springs level them for you!

You look out on the wide, wide world past narrower posts and through deeper, wider windshields and windows—up to 413 more square inches of safety plate glass let you see America first, last and all the time!

Comfort? You've never known the like, what with lower floors, and wider seats, and as much as four inches more to stretch out your legs!

Convenience? It's everywhere—from a gearshift out of knee-way to a direction signal that operates by a simple flip of a switch!

An idle dream, you say? Not a bit of it! This great car's calling pointedly to you when it so plainly invites, "Step in! Let's go!"

Though bigger, though better, though more beautiful than ever, this great Buick is actually lower in price! Lower than last year—lower by far than you'd ever think to look at it—lower even than some sizes!

So, why don't you visit the nearest Buick dealer—just to see the surprising news that's written on his price tags?
